

DUHS faculty training course on 'Self-Assessment Report (SAR)' as per HEC Criteria

The Dow University continuously conducts faculty development programs. Recently DUHS organized a two-day training session on the preparation of Self-Assessment Report (SAR) at Ojha Campus under the supervision of Prof. Dr Rana Qamar Masood, Director, Quality Enhancement Cell (QEC), DUHS.

Addressing the training session as the guest of honour, the founding Vice Chancellor of DUHS Prof. Dr Masood Hameed Khan appreciated the faculty members and other speakers, for their efforts in training the next generation of doctors to provide best possible healthcare facilities and thanked the team of quality enhancement cell for their consistent efforts in this regard. He emphasized the importance of SAR Program which always has served as a fundamental tool for enhancing the quality of higher education.

Prof. Dr. Rana Qamar highlighted the performance of the Quality Enhancement Cell (QEC) at DUHS with perspective of Higher Education Commission (HEC), which reflects as role model for others. She highlighted that the scoring of DUHS is being labeled as highest amongst all public and private sector universities of Pakistan by the Higher Education Commission (HEC) in previous years.

The entire activity consisted of sessions on total eight standards, which were delivered by the different experts of DUHS as well as from other reputed higher institutes of Karachi. All the aspects of SAR were covered in this event.

The speakers of the sessions included Prof. Dr. Sajidin, Prof. Dr. Imran Mehmood, Prof. Dr. Shahida Sajjad, Sheema Haider, Prof. Zeba Haque, Prof. Sumbul Shamim, and Prof. Raza-ur-Rehman.

In the end of the sessions, Deputy Director QEC-DUHS Dr. Bilal Azmi thanked all the speakers and the participants who made this training Workshop successful.